

COURSES IN MARINE SURVEYING and supporting courses

Marine surveyors come from various different marine disciplines – some have naval architecture degrees, while others have spent many years working in repair yards and for builders. A number of small craft marine courses contain some surveying alongside other marine activities. The best way is to contact these for a prospectus and see which course appeals to you most. The colleges we are particularly aware of are:

International Boatbuilding Training College, Sea Lake Road, Oulton Broad, Lowestoft, Suffolk, NR32 3LQ. Tel: 01502 569663 Fax: 01502 500661 Nat and Gill Wilson. 5 week practical surveying course with opportunity of YDSA membership following successful completion and assessment.
